

CENSORSHIP OF MOVIES AND SUNDAY REST LAW

Young People's Religious Bodies
Advocate Both and Also Urge
"Dry" Washington.

Sunday movie shows and saloons will find the force of thousands of church people as represented in the young people's religious organizations thrown against them in Congress the coming winter, if the plans outlined by several speakers at a meeting last night of the representatives of these associations are carried to a conclusion. The temporary organization of a co-operative central body of religious organizations was formed at a meeting in the club-room of the Y. M. C. A. building, 1738 G street northwest.

Robert D. Burbank, president of the Epworth League, was elected temporary chairman of the organization, while Earl Taggart, president of the Christian Endeavor Union, was designated as the temporary secretary. A committee was named to draft a constitution and by-laws and a report at a meeting to be held in the Y. M. C. A. building November 27. The committee is scheduled to meet next Saturday.

Outline of Purposes.

In outlining the purposes of the proposed federation, Mr. Burbank declared that it should look after civic questions presented to the church and bodies for action. Among them he suggested the prohibition movement, an adequate Sunday rest law and a federal board of censorship for moving pictures. Rev. E. M. Sexton, who declared that moving picture shows were one of the most potent factors working against the church in this city, and he would welcome any movement against the present practices of moving picture shows.

William Knowles Cooper, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., warned those directing the formation of the federation that they should take the form of a federated council, and said the proposed body should not attempt to force its views on the religious bodies represented, but should create sentiment for particular movements. He asserted that each of the religious bodies represented had a particular field, and that the federation would find great opposition if it attempted to break down the denominational work. He also warned the representatives against having too many meetings.

Some years ago, he said, there grew up a great movement for interdenominational work, but lately there has been a reaction in the direction of denominational issues.

Movement Favored by Others.

Mrs. John N. Culbertson, president of the Woman's Interdenominational Mission Union; J. R. Wright, president of the Methodist Protestant Union; T. A. Hosteller, president of the Sunday School Association of the District of Columbia; James W. McGuire, vice president of the Washington Civic Association; Frank Morrison, representing the Disciples' Union; Earle Taggart, president of the Christian Endeavor Union; and W. S. Warren, president of the Phi Mu Sigma fraternity, spoke in favor of the movement.

The general sentiment of the speakers also was in favor of perfecting the organization before any concrete action was taken, so that the machinery would be in readiness to take up the civic problems, the most important of which was said by speakers to be the Sunday rest law.

The committee appointed to draft the constitution and by-laws as well as the platform of the new organization, which have not yet been given a name, is as follows: Robert D. Burbank, William Knowles Cooper, Earle Taggart, Mrs. John N. Culbertson, James W. McGuire, J. R. Wright and W. W. Millan.

CHILE-U. S. PACT APPROVED.

Arbitration Treaty Between Countries Favored by the Senate.

SANTIAGO, Chile, November 6.—The arbitration treaty between Chile and the United States, providing for investigation by an international commission of differences which cannot be settled through diplomacy, was approved today by the Senate. The measure was ratified yesterday by the chamber of deputies.

Chilean newspapers comment extensively on the adoption of the arbitration treaty. They are agreed that it will have most beneficial results and strengthen the existing friendly relations between the two nations. They predict that commercial intercourse in particular will be stimulated.

The American ambassador, Henry P. Fletcher, is commended by the newspapers for his efforts to foster commercial relations with the United States.

WANTS A "REAL HEARING."

Dr. Anna Shaw Asks Both Parties to Consider Suffrage.

NEW YORK, November 6.—Dr. Anna Shaw, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, today wrote to William F. McCombs, chairman of the democratic national committee, asking permission for representatives of the association to appear before the committee in Washington December 7 to discuss the possibility of giving woman suffrage "a real and not a perfunctory hearing" at the democratic national convention next year.

She sent a similar letter to Charles D. Elliot, chairman of the republican national committee, asking permission for suffrage leaders to appear before that committee when it meets in Washington December 14 to 15 inclusive.

NOTE TO BRITAIN AWAITS SPECIFIC INFORMATION

Complaint of Packers Regarding Meat Seizures Will Soon Be Considered.

A note to Great Britain regarding specifically the issues involved in the seizure of American meat cargoes may be prepared within the next two weeks. The State Department is not now ready to take a step in this direction, as it has not received certain information requested of attorneys for the packers and which is expected next week, when a decision will be reached.

Issues Involved.

Three sets of issues are involved. One has to do with vessels and cargoes already disposed of by the British prize court. These cases have been appealed. The second has to do with vessels and cargoes not yet passed upon by the prize court. The third involves a protest against interference with the shipment of meat products for Sweden, via Norway.

Attention was called last night to the fact that if the British government had threatened confiscation unless vessels of the Norwegian-American line accepted packing house products for delivery in Norway and guaranteed consumption there, such threats had not been a public matter.

Vessel Threatened.

This last issue was brought up when packers placed before the Department a complaint that the steamship Christianford, due to sail from New York yesterday for Christiania, had been threatened with confiscation if she loaded meat products destined for resident buyers in Sweden on through bills of lading, via Christiania. Ambassador Page has been instructed to make inquiries in London as to this case.

PASSENGERS AND CREW RESCUED FROM STEAMER

Vessel Spiked on Rocks Off Coast of Lower California—Two Officers
Remain Aboard.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., November 6.—The cruiser San Diego was believed to be en route to this port tonight with the twenty-four passengers and the crew of the steamer Fort Bragg, wrecked early yesterday off Point Palmaria, Lower California. Radio messages today said the victims of the wreck had been taken aboard the cruiser.

Capt. Charles C. Graham and the purser were still on the Fort Bragg; the messages said. The vessel was spiked on the rocks, but the sea had subsided, and there was no immediate danger of her breaking up.

No Lights on Coast.

It was while wallowing in heavy seas at 3 a.m., with no lights charting the rocky coast, that the steamer struck. The San Jose de Cabo light-house was partially buried in recent sandstorms and has not been operated since.

Until daylight the passengers remained huddled on the decks, watching the lifeboats that were put off capsizing by one. On a breeches buoy they were finally landed.

VERDICT IN LITTLE CASE.

Court-Martial Trying Rear Admiral
Sends Findings to Washington.

BOSTON, November 6.—The court-martial which for a week has considered charges against Rear Admiral William M. Little, U. S. N., retired, preferred by the Secretary of the Navy, agreed on a verdict today and forwarded its findings to Washington. Whether the former naval inspector of construction was held blameless or was found guilty of neglect in recommending the submarine K-3 for acceptance when her batteries developed faults will not be made public until the verdict is announced by Secretary Daniels.

Home

Is the central thought of the happy members of your household—you, your wife and your children all long for a home of your own if you are now living in rented homes. Isn't it about time to decide?

You can buy a home and get a better bargain than by trying to build—then, too, by saying you want to build your own home is usually your chief excuse for delay.

Get out of the rut of always renting and go out and buy a home of your own.
